

Oxford Brookes Library

project	New Library
location	Headington Hill, Oxford
client	Oxford Brookes University
dates	1997-present
cost	£14million (estimate)

The 8,500m² project includes reading and bookstacks for the Headington Hill campus of the University. The site is adjacent to a listed manor house surrounded by mature landscaping and commands spectacular views over the dreaming spires of Oxford.

The design of the project has been progressed to a feasibility stage for fundraising and to obtain the support of the local planning authority.

